The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime. His mother has about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly tells Tom that he will be whipped if he is caught dragooning again. Tom uses his extra pocket money to get a new cap, and Aunt Polly is satisfied.

Tom goes out of the house to watch the new arrival of the circus. The boy is the new owner of the circus, and eventually chooses the newcomer as the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitenaw the fence. Joe passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitening as revenge for a "white alley," a kind of mischief Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his chores.
