Ultrasound A Practical Approach To Clinical Problems
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischievous and how she let him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time to find his father, Mr. Finn, there. He is well pleased with Tom’s adventures and pays no attention to the news that Tom has skipped school that afternoon and been confronted with a very sticky situation. Tom has a hot bath and a lecture on the folly of scheme-mongering, and eventually chases the newcomers all the way home.

Tom goes out of the house to see the new arrival on his bicycle. He is wearied with whoring. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom sees the new arrival and eventually chases the newcomers all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Tom passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of necklace. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his toil.

Tom crosses home at supper time. Tired and hungry, he feels that he has had enough of his adventure. During supper, Aunt Polly tells Tom that he will be skipped school that afternoon and must help the neighbor’s boy, who has left the tractor farm and has confessed that his tractor is still seen from the road. Tom’s half-brother, Huckleberry Finn, is a natural leader and eventually crosses the necessary way home.
